Title Of the Programme - Introduction of 'C' programming language

Number Of Participants - 58

Resource Person Name - Mrs. Priyanka Mhatre

Date of the Program - 21/8/2018

Program Report -

An induction program for introducing the C programming language to B.Sc. IT students should aim to provide a solid foundation in C programming concepts, syntax, and problem-solving skills. Here's a suggested outline for an induction program:

Below are key points focused on by the faculty -

1. Orientation and Basics
2. Data Types and Variables
3. Control Flow and Functions
4. Arrays and Pointers
5. File Handling and Advanced Topics
6. Practical Projects and Assessments

Depending on the student's progress and your course's objectives, you can introduce more advanced topics like data structures, algorithms, and C libraries.

Throughout the program, encourage students to practice coding regularly, ask questions, and provide resources such as textbooks and online tutorials. Assignments and hands-on coding exercises should be an integral part of the induction program to reinforce learning. Additionally, promotes collaboration and peer learning within the class.

Remember to adapt the program's pace and content to the student's prior programming knowledge and the overall course requirements.

Title Of The Programme - ICT/ Computing Skills - Introduction to ICT Tools

Number Of Participants - 60

Resource Person Name - Ms. Jyoti Uday Darne

Date of the Program - 31/3/2021

Program Report -

An induction program for introducing B.Sc. IT and B.Com students to ICT (Information and Communication Technology) tools are essential to help them understand the fundamental concepts and skills required in the field. Here's a sample outline for an ICT Tools Introduction Program.

1. To familiarize B.Sc. IT and B.Com students with essential ICT tools.
2. To develop basic proficiency in using ICT tools for academic and professional purposes.
3. To cultivate an understanding of the relevance of ICT in their respective fields.
4. To encourage critical thinking and problem-solving through ICT applications.

Below are key points focused on by the faculty -

1. Introduction to ICT Fundamentals
2. Specialized ICT Tools for B.Sc. IT and B.Com
3. Data Analysis and Presentation

Remember to adapt this program to your specific needs and resources, and consider the level of prior knowledge your students may have. Continuous assessment and feedback are important to ensure the effectiveness of the induction program.

Title Of The Programme - ICT/ Computing Skills - Tools for Online Education and Remote Learning

Number Of Participants - 60

Resource Person Name - Mr. Amit Patil

Date of the Program - 25th February 2022

Program Report -

The global education landscape has undergone a significant transformation due to the COVID-19 pandemic, leading to the adoption of online education and remote learning as the new norm. This report aims to provide insights into the various tools and technologies that can enhance the online learning experience for B.Com (Bachelor of Commerce) and B.Sc IT (Bachelor of Science in Information Technology) students. These tools are designed to facilitate effective communication, collaboration, and engagement, ensuring that students can continue to receive a high-quality education even in a remote setting.

Below are key points focused on by the faculty -

1. Learning Management Systems (LMS)
2. Video Conferencing Tools
3. Virtual Labs
4. Collaboration and Productivity Tools
5. E-Books and Online Libraries

Online education and remote learning are now integral to the academic experience, and B.Com and B.Sc IT students must have access to a variety of tools to support their learning journey. These tools offer the flexibility and functionality required to deliver high-quality education in a digital environment. By following best practices and continually adapting to the evolving educational landscape, institutions can ensure that students in these disciplines receive a comprehensive and engaging education, regardless of their physical location.

Program Report -

In today's digital age, the field of marketing has undergone a significant transformation. Digital marketing has emerged as a powerful tool for businesses to connect with their target audience and achieve their goals. This report aims to provide B.Com and B.Sc IT students with a comprehensive understanding of digital marketing, its key components, and its relevance in the modern business landscape.

Below are key points focused on by the faculty -

1. Audience Reach
2. Cost-Effective
3. Data-driven

Data-driven digital marketing is a dynamic and ever-evolving field, playing a pivotal role in the business world. B.Com and B.Sc IT students should recognize its significance, components, and the opportunities it presents for their careers. By staying informed about the latest trends and challenges in digital marketing, students can position themselves as valuable assets in the digital era, both in traditional business roles and the IT industry. Understanding digital marketing is an essential skill for future professionals in an increasingly digital world.
